

Other Pests

When it comes to treating Rodents and Fleas, there are certain directives that should be taken into account.

When dealing with Rodents, Exodus use baiting systems (secured or lockable) and professional commercial strength baits. We offer a removal of carcass service or provide odour absorption products, and if required, we can also provide a written 12 month warranty.

Fleas are a little more resistant to general pest treatments. In order to achieve the best results when treating Fleas and their eggs, we request customers mow lawns and vacuum carpets, effectively disposing of any dirt and dust in a sealed bag.

Our technicians will then blanket spray carpets and floorboards internally, and blanket spray yard, paying particular attention to favourite pet areas. We will also treat your pets in a safe and effective manner.

Once service is complete, we will provide you with a prevention method plan that will help you understand and better manage Flea control.

It's important to be aware that a yard requires 'movement' to force flea eggs to hatch so you may see fleas up to three weeks after service due to their breeding cycle.
